Arrange Meet With Cummings On Draw Poker

Summer Letdown Affects Orinda Association, Too

With vacations being largely responsible, lack of a quorum caused the Board of Directors of the Orinda Association to skip its meeting scheduled for last Monday night, according to Kirk Miles, association president.

Miles said that not enough directors were in town for a session to be held. This sizzling-up, decision to skip and announcement of no-meeting Monday were made the night of August 23, so that no one would search for a non-existent meeting.

Regular monthly meeting of the Orinda Association Board is on the fourth Monday night of each month, at 7:30, at Orinda Grammar School.

Church Site Will Be Sold by EBMUD To St. Stephen's

East Bay Municipal Utility District announced yesterday that sale of between eight and nine acres of its property to St. Stephen's Episcopal Church is expected to be consummated in the near future.

The land, according to Arthur Ames of the E. B. M. U. D. public relations staff, lies between Las Vegas Road and Charles Hill Road, at the northeast corner of the utility district holdings north of Mt. Diablo Boulevard, in that section.

Price agreed upon, Ames said, is about $2000 an acre, making the total price somewhat less than $16,000.

"THE TRANSACTION is not completed but it is practically consummated and it appears that it will go through," Ames said. "There are still some details to be worked out, and final approval must be voted by the utility district's board of directors."

"Next meeting of the board is September 14. The matter may be acted on at that meeting."

"THE LAND, ON WHICH THE St. Stephen's congregation plans to build a permanent church building, is a beautiful, gently-sloping, oak-studded area."

Parishoners have helped finance purchase of the property by buying Church Bonds. These Church Bonds, just issued, carry a picture of the land.

Lions' Barbecue Set for Sept. 8

Orinda Lions and their wives are anticipating the annual barbecue which this year is planned for Carroll Ranch, September 8, 7 p.m. Members of other Lions Clubs in the area have been invited to take part in the gala event.

Walter Friberg heads the planning committee, with a corps of assistants helping arrange all details.

In an effort to end the draw poker "social club" threat to Lafayette and other unincorporated sections of the county, leaders of representative groups in this area will meet September 12 with county supervisors at Lafayette Town Hall.

Arranged by President W. B. Scarborough of the Lafayette Improvement Association, the meeting will be held at 8 o'clock that night.

The Lafayette Chamber of Commerce and the Lafayette P.T.A. have also protested the establishment of draw poker parlor facilities in the community, and the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee last week urged the association board to oppose draw poker parlors.

According to Scarborough, those who have definitely promised to be present, besides himself, are Board of Supervisors Chairman Jack Cummings, who is supervisor for District 2, President Kirk Miles of the Orinda Association, President Dick Prokop of the Gregory Gardens Improvement Association and President Sanford Terry of the Pleasant Hill Improvement Association.

IN ADDITION, Prokop has stated he would ask Supervisor Ray Taylor of District 3 to attend, and Scarborough said this week he will invite President Jack Schneider of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce. Prokop has said he is almost certain that Taylor will be able to be present.

"Purpose of the meeting," Scarborough explained, "is to have a discussion with the supervisors to see if something can be worked out to cope effectively with the draw poker-parlor problem and whether a ban can be effected for a local area. Cummings is going to get an opinion from the district attorney's office on the subject."

ALTHOUGH the September 12 session is not to be a "closed" meeting, the idea will be to have a thorough discussion by a representative small group, Scarborough stated.

"If necessary, we can have a large public meeting later," he said. Impetus for the September 12 conference was the refusal by the Board of Supervisors last week to enact an ordinance to outlaw draw poker "social clubs" in the unincorporated areas of Contra Costa.

SUCH AN ORDINANCE was requested by the Lafayette Improvement Association when Gus Mangini "Pastime Smoke Shop" was opened — August 20. At the front of the place is a bar; a partial partition separates the front and rear portions. Hetherington, who lives in San Francisco, has said that the renters' plans called for a smoke shop in front and card tables in back.

THE SUPERVISORS claimed that they could not outlaw draw poker parlors in one section of the county only, and that the problem was one for the State Legislature.

IT WAS POINTED OUT that draw poker parlors are usually used as "cover-ups" for bookmaking establishments and other forms of illegal gambling, and that in any case they are harmful to a community, badly influencing youth and attracting undesirable elements.

Decision to arrange a conference of improvement group leaders with the supervisors was made at a meeting of the Lafayette Improvement Association August 22.

Mills Club Hums With Plans for Centennial Ball

The Mills College Centennial Ball September 29, first of its kind, continues to dominate Orinda Mills Club interests.

This event at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, if successful, will be followed by an annual affair each year.

Mrs. Thomas Nicholl of La Fond Lane is requesting prizes for the game booths from all Orinda Mills Club members. Please call Mrs. Nicholl, Orinda 2645, if you have any donations or good contacts for merchandise, cosmetics, food or liquor. Home canned food is especially requested.

Deadline for table reservations for the Orinda game is tomorrow. Notify Mrs. Delmar Fager by then, if you wish to be included.

All reservations must be paid in advance. Checks are to be payable to Mrs. Jesse M. Markel.

Tickets are $7.50 per person. This includes dinner and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

SINCE THIS is the night daylight saving goes off, there will actually be five hours of dancing! The game room adjoining the bar promises entertainment for all, and will be staffed with gay-costumed Mills students and grads.

The committee which is addressing the 4,000 ball invitations needs help.

Any Orinda member who can do so is asked to report to Reinhardt house on the Mills Campus any day except Saturday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday hours are between 9 a.m. and noon.

Pack 52's Cubs Beat Dads, 12-11

Baseball players of Orinda Cub Pack 52 are still prone to crowd over their 12-11 win in the Dads-Sons game played as a feature of the Acalesne High School picnic August 18.

A program of games was part of the fun, with the following winners: base running race, Michael Halloran; bat race, David Puddy; baseball throw, David Puddy. Prizes were donated by Cubmaster Bill Ellermeier.

Parents and friends attended the affair, with picnic lunching, swimming, the baseball contest and games combining for a day of fun.

Aim Orchids at Highway Patrol

The California Highway Patrol was slated this week to receive a few orchids (of the praising-via-correspondence variety) for its patrolling of Moraga and Orinda Highways.

Unanimously approved by the Civic Affairs Committee is a suggestion that the Orinda Association Board of Directors write the Highway Patrol, thanking it "for the very adequate patrol service noted recently on Moraga and Orinda Highways" and expressing the hope that such patrolling continue.

Frank Cayting of the Glorieta Improvement Association mentioned the betterment of patrolling when the Civic Affairs Committee met August 20 at Orinda Grammar School.

The Orinda Association had pressed for improved patrol service, to cut down the number of speed violations.

Upon suggestion of Civil Affairs Chairman Zach Montgomery, Cayting moved for the thank-you letter. A chorus of "second the motion" followed and the proposal was voted unanimously.

Orinda Puts On 'Party for G.I.'s At Homes, Pool

Sixteen soldiers from Camp Stoneman relished the delights of Orinda hospitality last Sunday, in homes of Orinda families and at Orinda Park Pool.

Occasion was a repeat performance, with variations, of the successful "Operation Houseparty" of several weeks ago. The variations made this event even more successful, if that's possible.

TESTIMONY THAT the hosts as well as the G.I.'s thoroughly enjoyed themselves was contained in a letter to Mrs. S. H. McAllister, chairman of the "houseparty" projects for the Mt. Diablo Red Cross Chapter, from Mrs. Theodore Bradley, chairman of Orinda "Operation Houseparty." Mrs. George Matey handled arrangements for the Park Pool entertainment.

"Today was beautiful," Mrs. Bradley wrote Sunday, "and from all accounts, Mrs. George Matey had everything well in hand for a delightful day at the Pool for the 16 boys from Camp Stoneman Hospital."

Mrs. Bradley then listed the families which participated in the event. When the soldiers arrived in Orinda at 11 a.m., these families took them to their homes for dinner and general relaxation. Later they took the G.I.'s to the Park Pool, where a show, replete with Hawaiian dancing, a magic act and singing, sparked the evening hours.

FAMILIES WHICH SERVED as hosts to the soldiers included: Messrs. and Mesdames W. Branch, 2 Washington Lane; J. G. Hupp, 15 Vallecito Lane; W. Courtwright, 15 La Madrona; E. Rahmeyer, 49 La Cresta Road; John Parker, 52 Camino Del Diablo; Ralph Stocker, 440 Moraga Highway; C. R. Anderson, 133 El Toyonal; and George Matey, 7 Las Mesas.

Next "Operation Houseparty" in Orinda for Camp Stoneman Hospital boys is scheduled for September 23.

Highway Crashes Keep A-Comin'

Cars driven by Dorraine Nielson, 22, 880 Juanita Drive, Sun Valley, and Thomas Davenport, 38, believed to be from Millbrae, collided Monday on Mt. Diablo Boulevard at Happy Valley Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Davenport car was going east, the other west. The accident occurred shortly after noon.

About a mile west of Orinda Crossroads, three cars tangled in a rear-end collision the morning of August 23. Drivers were Fletcher Taylor, 59, Happy Valley Road, Lafayette; Nelson Boyd, 54, Concord; and Kenneth Friedenbach, 32, Concord. No injuries were reported. All were headed west.

Six-year-old Tara Doty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe R. Doty of 349 Glorieta Boulevard, Orinda, was injured when the car in which she was riding with her mother had a head-on collision at Orinda Crossroads August 17 with a car driven by Zelma Batchan, 35, of Berkeley.

Weather Year's Here — It Rained!

Orinda weather for the week of August 23 through 29 is mainly noteworthy for the .18 inch of rainfall which fell on the last day of that period. This was the first "real" rain of the weather year which began July 1, with a "trace" recorded on August 21.

Maximum temperature registered was 92 degrees on the 25th; minimum, the 43 degrees of the 27th.

Intramural Swim Meet Sunday at Orinda Park Pool

About 85 entrants, most of them boys and girls ranging in age from 6 to 16, will compete in Orinda Park Pool's annual Intramural Championship Meet this Sunday afternoon.

Scheduled to start at 2 p.m., the events will include various races for different age groups, with most of the contests being staged separately for boys and girls.

The competition will show the progress made during the summer by the swimmers, and will give the 25-yard back stroke, each for the number of its team to be selected for the following Sunday, September 9, when the climax of the season, the annual Orinda Park Pool-Orinda Country Club meet takes place.

THAT MEET, which will officially close the season, will be held at the Park Pool in the afternoon. Each year the locale of the meet is shifted; last year it was at the Country Club; this year it will be at Park Pool.

Each year, too, a silver cup goes to the victor, to be retained until the following year's meet. Last year's winner was the Country Club. Park Pool enthusiasts are determined to wrest it from their traditional rivals on September 9.

EVENTS DEFINITELY slated for this Sunday's Intramural Meet include the 25-yard free style and the 25-yard back stroke, each for the following age groups: for boys and girls separately: 6-7, 8-9, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15, 16 and over.

It is expected that, as in the past, there will also be a parent-child relay, with one parent (father or mother) and one child (boy or girl, any age) constituting each team. The child swims 25 yards, then the parent swims the same distance.

ALSO ANTICIPATED are the usual breast stroke events — for boys 10 and under, girls 10 and under, boys 11 and over, girls 11 and over. Ribbon awards will be presented to individual swimmers.

Following the Park Pool-Country Club meet, achievement awards for the season will be presented by Coach Bob Edwards. These awards — felt blocks, to be sewn on sweaters — are based on improvements during the season.

Moraga Party for G. I.'s Sept. 9

Moraga will be the scene of "Operation Houseparty" for Camp Stoneman Hospital G. I.'s Sunday, September 9.

With Mrs. A. J. Baitz in charge, Moraga families are planning to treat the soldiers to a day of real home life.

This will be another of the "houseparties" for G. I.'s from the hospital, being conducted by residents of different communities in cooperation with the Mt. Diablo Red Cross Chapter.

'Nothing New' on Market Burglars

Inspector Norman Wilson of the sheriff's office said yesterday that the series of food market burglaries in this area earlier this summer was still being investigated, and that there was "nothing new" to report on the matter.

"We may have something to report soon, but at present we're still investigating it, and there's nothing new to report," he said. Look in most of the burglaries consisted of cigars or liquor, or a combination of both of these and money.

School Board Asks $1.75 Tax Limit

$20,000 Agreed Price for Site In Sleepy Hollow

Verbal agreement on price for the 14-acre site — $20,000 — and completion of preliminary architectural plans for the first portion of the building sharpened hopes of Orinda School District trustees this week that Orinda's third grammar school, in Sleepy Hollow, will be opened in September, 1952.

Architect Jack Buchter presented preliminary plans for the school at Tuesday night's school board meeting at Orinda Grammar School. The board authorized him to get approval from the State Department of Education and to go ahead with the plans.

It was reported that the school board and East Bay Municipal Utility District, owner of the land, have verbally agreed on a price of $20,000 for the 14-acre site at the west end of Washington Lane.

"NOW THE NEXT STEP is to work out means of paying for the site," Superintendent of Schools Joseph L. Sheaff said later.

"We have an understanding that we can take an option on approximately half of the site, the part that we wouldn't be using until the next year after the first portion of the new school opens — which we hope will be in September, 1952. THE PRELIMINARY plans submitted by Buchter are for a kindergarten room, administration space and six classrooms. These would constitute the initial portion of the structure."

"BUCHTER is ALSO going ahead with the master plan for the entire project," Sheaff continued. "Eventually, the Sleepy Hollow school will have two kindergarten rooms, 18 classrooms and administration space."

Sheaff said that the district has "about $280,000 or $270,000" it can spend on the 14-acre base and the first portion of the plant.

SOME $60,000 of this amount is anticipated from this year's increased tax rate (the rate has jumped to $1.50 from last year's $1.19).

The rest is in bonds — $130,000's worth has been sold, and $60,000 to $70,000 of the $400,000 bond issue voted in July, 1950, is expected to be sold this fiscal year, according to Sheaff.

$75,000 Sought In Damage Suit

On file in Superior Court is a $75,000 damage suit by Mrs. Jean Carriers of 121 Lombardy Lane, who charges she was pinned against the wall of her home when 17 sheets of steel rock tilted and fell against her.

Her husband, George E. Carriers, also asks $2069.70 for expenses incurred in treatment of his wife.

The action, filed by Attorney Paul Richard of the Oakland law firm of Nichols, Richard, Allard and Williams, names Carl Hansen, contractor of 101 Kendall Avenue, Walnut Creek, and his agents, Richard and said the sheets of fabricated material had been "negligently and carelessly" stacked. According to the complaint, each sheet measures four by eight feet and weighs 80 pounds.

As a result of being trapped against the wall of an alcove by the total weight of 1360 pounds, Mrs. Carriers suffered serious injuries, Attorney Richard states.

C of C Topics — Cleanup, Parking

Orinda Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular semi-monthly session at Casa Orinda next Thursday at noon. Items on cleanup of trash from the Orinda business section and action on the parking problem are slated for the agenda, according to Bill Worden, publicity chairman.

All interested merchants are encouraged to attend the meeting, according to President Ramsey Underwood.

Double Sessions Only for Orinda First Graders

Double sessions in Orinda School District will be necessary only for the first grade at Orinda School, Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff reported to the school board Tuesday night.

Previously anticipated double sessions for second and third grades at Orinda School will not be required.

Thus, two extra rooms become available at Orinda School for classes.

Orinda School first grade will have two morning classes and one afternoon class.

There will be two kindergarten periods in the afternoon for Orinda School — one at the school, one at the church nursery — and none in the morning. At Glorieta, there will be one morning kindergarten period and one afternoon kindergarten period.

These kindergarten periods are not considered double sessions, Sheaff said; they are normal days for kindergarten.

First grade double sessions at Orinda School will be the first double sessions in the district since 1948-49, when the first three grades at Orinda School were on double sessions while Glorieta School was being built — except for a few weeks for Glorieta first and second grades at the beginning of last school year, during work on Glorieta additions.

Mothers Club Executive Board To Meet Tuesday

First meeting of the new Executive Board of the Mothers Club for Orinda and Glorieta Schools will be held next Tuesday, 2 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Joseph Downs, 94 Sleepy Hollow Lane, to discuss budget plans and school problems.

Officers for the 1951-52 year, elected in the spring, are: Mrs. Robert L. Bigler, president; Mrs. Marvin Bonds, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Coburn, treasurer; Mrs. Will Evans, recording secretary; Mrs. Norman Coates, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Donald Krotz, board adviser; Mrs. Roy Nicolayson, faculty adviser.

Newly appointed committee chairmen for the year are:

Bridge, Mrs. Jack Moylan; Civic Affairs, Mrs. Joseph Allen; Hospitality, Orinda School, Mrs. Emory Davis; Hospitality, Glorieta School, Mrs. Carl Pedersen; Library, Glorieta School, Mrs. Mel Arighi; Membership, Orinda School, Mrs. Bertram Kohler; Membership, Glorieta School, Mrs. Thomas Cooper; Projects, Mrs. Joseph Downs; Publicity, Mrs. Kenneth M. Brown; Welfare, Mrs. Bruce Howard.

Joseph L. Sheaff, principal of the two schools, will meet with the Executive Board Tuesday to assist in making its plans for the school year.

Wesley Smith's Father Succumbs

Waldo E. Smith, father of Wesley J. Smith of 150 Orinda Highway, died last Friday at Permanente Hospital, Oakland. He was a Native Son of California, 83 years old. Funeral services were held Sunday at Grant Miller Mortuary Chapel on Telegraph Avenue.

H.T. Lynn Back from Midwest Business Trip

H. T. Lynn of 12 Woodland Road recently returned from a business trip to the Midwest.

At Findlay, Ohio, he attended a sales meeting of the Buckeye Division (ditches and road machinery) of Garwood Industries, Inc. At Wayne, Mich., he conferred with officials at the firm's sales offices.

Renew Effort to Get County to Accept Tara Rd.; Moraga Meadows Plans Signs

Renewed effort is being made to get the county to accept Tara Road as a county road.

At the August 20 meeting of the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee at Orinda Grammar School, Clint Hallsted of the Moraga Meadows Association asked about the status of such efforts.

Chairman Zach Montgomery replied that the Orinda Association had recommended "some months ago" that the county take over Tara Road.

HALLSTED MOVED that the Orinda Association board be asked to write again to County Road Commissioner Joseph Barkley in an attempt to get the county to accept the road. Seconded by Frank Cayting of the Glorieta Improvement Association, the motion was carried unanimously.

Hallsted then brought up the subject of road signs, stating that his group is planning to erect some and wanted to know what other neigh-

Plan Election In October Or November

Orinda School Board set its sights this week toward a $1.75 tax limit for a seven-year period following the current fiscal year.

At its meeting at Orinda Grammar School Tuesday night, the board authorized Superintendent of Schools Joseph L. Sheaff to start negotiations with the district attorney's office so that an election can be called for October or November on increasing the legal limit on the tax rate to a figure tentatively agreed upon as $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

It is planned to ask the voters to approve such a tax limit for a seven-year period, from July 1, 1952, through June 30, 1959.

PURPOSE OF the higher limit (which would not necessarily mean that the tax rate for any one fiscal year would reach that high) would be to enable the school district to expand its facilities "to meet constantly increasing enrollment," Sheaff explained.

Expansions would include additions to the contemplated first portion of the planned school in Sleepy Hollow (see separate story), a fourth school in Moraga Del Rey and possibly an all-purpose room at Glorieta School.

Even with a $1.75 tax limit, it may be necessary to float another bond issue four years from now, Sheaff indicated, in order to achieve these objectives.

THE MORAGA DEL REY site being eyed by the board is 12 acres on Camino Moraga, about a quarter of a mile west of Moraga Highway. The land is owned by the Moraga Company.

Although there have been discussions with the Moraga Company regarding this site, there have been no actual negotiations, Sheaff said. At present, no talks about this property are going on because the Acalesne High School District is seeking to purchase a 52-acre site in Moraga Valley from the company, according to Sheaff.

(The parcel sought by the high school district is between Orinda and Moraga, about three miles south of Orinda Crossroads and west of the creek which is parallel to Moraga Highway, on the west of the road.)

REGARDING POSSIBILITY of another bond issue in four years — which would have to be approved by voters before being floated — Sheaff explained:

"It will probably take about three more years, after this fiscal year, to sell the remainder of the $400,000 bond issue voted in July, 1950. We can issue about $70,000 in bonds a year."

"So in four years it may be necessary to have another bond issue if we hope to go ahead with essential expansion of the district."

"We figure that with an increased tax limit and with bonds, we can buy the property in Moraga Del Rey and erect a building there in about five years, add rooms to the Sleepy Hollow plant, bringing it to completion, and maybe add an all-purpose room to Glorieta School."

The present legal tax limit of $1.50 — which is also the actual tax rate for 1951-52 — expires June 30, 1952. This tax limit was approved by the voters in June, 1947, for a five-year period beginning July 1 that year.

Unless a new tax limit is voted, the legal limit automatically drops to 90 cents — the maximum rate allowed for elementary school districts unless the voters okay a higher limit.

Rotarians Hear Dunne Talk on 'Being American'

W. Gerald Dunne of the National Association of Manufacturers presented the program at Orinda Rotary's luncheon at the Willows Wednesday noon.

The theme shown and the accompanying talk dealt with "Being an American." It was pointed out that the merchant and businessman are prone to let others take over political reins in the rush of their own affairs, thus allowing "career politicians" to run things as they see fit.

Need to take a part in local government in order to assist in correcting faults was emphasized.

Orinda Rotary members have been invited to attend an inter-city meeting at Planters Dock next Thursday night, with Orinda service club's sponsor, Lafayette Rotary, as host. The newly formed North Oakland Rotary Club will also be present.

The program will start at 6:30 p.m.

Beverly Fisher Weds Dick Egglston At Informal Ceremony in Westwood

An informal four o'clock, double-ring ceremony in the lumbering town of Westwood high in the Sierras marked the marriage ceremony recently of Miss Beverly Fisher, popular Acalanes High School science teacher, and Richard Egglston of Santa Rosa.

The wedding was performed by the Rev. Haven Martin in the People's Methodist Church of Westwood. Reverend Martin is a former pastor of the Walnut Creek Methodist Church.

Matron of honor for the occasion was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Fisher of Berkeley. Her brother, William Fisher, gave the bride in marriage. Best man was Charles Denny, old friend of the bridegroom.

Both of the newlyweds are teachers. The bridegroom is agriculture instructor at Santa Rosa High School. The bride is a resident of Clover Lane in Walnut Creek.

Following the marriage ceremony there was a reception at the Westwood home of Rev. and Mrs. Martin. Among the guests were six of a former staff of 13 teachers who had previously taught at Willits, all long time friends of the bride and groom.

Among Walnut Creek guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. William Webb and children, Wendy, Clifford and Harriet; Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzmaurice and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Catterlin and son, Bill.

Since her engagement was announced earlier this year the bride has been feted at numerous showers by her many friends in addition to receiving a gift from the Acalanes High School faculty. She has long been a leader and organizer of folk dancing groups in the Walnut Creek area.

TAKE ENGINE'S PULSE

When the engine overheats, do not be satisfied merely with filling up the cooling system with water. Overheating simply may mean that the system has been short of water or clogged, but it also may mean that serious trouble is brewing in one of the vital parts of the car.

We're Proud of Our Classified Ad Section

We are constantly surprised — and pleased — to hear reports from you folks about the wonderful results these classified ads bring. A lady in Walnut Creek told us she sold a bicycle two hours after the Shopping News was out — and had eight calls besides. A furniture store in Lafayette sold over $200 worth of floor mats — from a $1.30 ad. A young mother in Concord received over 30 calls when she advertised for part-time help.

We could give you many, many such stories, but let's save them for another time.

Remember, for only $1.30 (20 words) your ad appears in 4 papers — Contra Costa Shopping News, Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun and Lafayette Sun. Try it and see for yourself. There's a reason why our classified section is...

'Dirty Work' for Playshop's 10th Birthday—Original Trio in Cast

Three members of the cast in Lafayette Playshop's currently-being-prepared melodrama, "Dirty Work Afoot," have been with the group since its inception in 1941. When the show opens its seven-performance run at Lafayette Town Hall September 27, it will be Production No. 24 for them and for Lafayette Playshop.

The veteran trio are Zella Robertson, Adrienne Sowers and Leroy Sowers. They have devoted a large portion of their spare time to producing, directing and acting with the local little theater.

COMBINING THE RESOURCES and talents of the Forum Drama Section and an Adult Education Public Speaking Class, the local group presented an evening of one-act plays in November of 1941.

This was followed by a variety show to raise funds for the local civilian defense program. The show was appropriately entitled the "C-D

About Our Happy Country Folk

By EDITH BOLMAN

AND THE TRIPSTERS continue to trip! (By that we don't mean trip—to fall over. We mean trip—to tread lightly over hill and dale in a fashion calculated to cause us non-trippers to crumble with exhaustion.)

The Rev. and Mrs. Fred Morrow, old seasonal trippers of the pack-in variety, recently initiated Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Phair into the mysteries of getting from one place to another on foot through the Kings Canyon country on a 10-day junket.

It was such a success that the Phairs are now confirmed addicts and would like to stage a repeat performance. George Trimble and the Morrow children, Marjorie, Dorothy and Don and the Phair children, Tom, John and Ginny and three obliging burros comprised the rest of the party.

They started from Cedar Grove and went to such places as the Bear Creek country, Lakes Italy, Rose, Marie and Sally Keys.

They saw porcupines and coyotes and killed two rattlers — caught golden trout and (what would have pleased us most if we had been along) they stopped walking every afternoon at approximately 2 o'clock in a likely spot on flat land near water to set up camp and to rest.

They all sounded so enthusiastic about the jaunt that maybe pack trips aren't as harrowing as we had thought.

DR. AND MRS. EDWARD S. Maloney are back to stay for a while in their Charles Hill home. What with trips to camp for the boys and Tahoe for themselves they haven't been around much.

Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland and children Scott and Mary are back from a relaxing journey to Portuguese Bend in Southern California, where they surfed.

Kenneth Detling's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Detling, are visiting here from Greenville, Ohio. They are new to the area, so our local Detlings are really going to show them the sights.

The R. F. Gaylords are back in their Sleepy Hollow home after an absence in the east for two years. The three boys, Stevie, Gregory and Fritz, are swimming all over the hillside renewing old friendships, and mother and father are swimming all over the house trying to remember where they put the furniture when they lived in the house before.

WANT TO KNOW SOME of your friends who are coming to the Children's Hospital Luncheon on September 8? We peeked over ticked chairman Mrs. Thomas Telfer's shoulder and caught a glimpse of the following:

ing at Knott's Berry Farm, where they became very much involved in folk dancing as well as Knott's best berries. Also saw the Capistrano Mission without swallows — wrong time of the year.

When they returned home they invited 14 members of the Pan-American Association for a barbecue at their home. Interesting group — have you heard about it? The purpose is to foster good neighborliness through cultural channels with our Pan-American countries.

THE WILLIAM FOSTERS with children Mary Carolyn and Jo are just back from a relaxing week at Pebble Beach.

While there they saw the Lonnie Bees and the William Denaults, who had gone down for Nancy Hauck's wedding. The Bees were having a busy time, incidentally, because they had to rush home for their own 25th anniversary party given for them at the Donald Allens.

CAROLYN ARCHER celebrated her ninth birthday Indian fashion at Tilden Park. The shindig was a barbecue complete with Indian hats and teepee decorations on the table.

The following Chiefs and Chiefesses powwowed all over the place: Jimmy Detling, Karen Smith, Patsy Quinn, Phil and Marilyn Bartlett, Karen Justama, Kathy and Jo Krapholler, Deane Wasson, Susan Roberts and Tommy Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Via Hermosa had an enjoyable 10-day stay recently at Corona Del Mar visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Gallion, dean of architecture at S.C.

Tells Us News of Service People

News about our boys — and girls — in the service of our country is something the entire community wants to read. It's news of importance and interest, not only to the serviceman's family but also to the rest of the people here.

The SUN publishes whatever it can of such news. So you'd be doing the paper and the community a service by letting us know of local people in the service — when they enter, when they're transferred to a new spot, what they say in their letters home.

Needless to say, rules of military security will be scrupulously observed.

Thanks.

GOOD HEALTH

1. DO OLDER PEOPLE HAVE MORE COLDS THAN YOUNG PEOPLE?

2. WHAT CAUSES FLAT FEET?

3. WHAT IS ROCKY MOUNTAIN SPOTTED FEVER?

Answer to Question No. 1: 1. With advancing years common colds become less frequent, but chronic bronchitis, asthma and pneumonia are more common and more serious. It is always a good idea to consult a physician about a heavy cold, because in their early stages many diseases resemble colds.

Answer to Question No. 2: 2. Some persons are born with flat feet. Others acquire them because of toeing out, improper shoes or lack of exercise for the feet muscles. Special exercises or shoes are often prescribed by physicians to help this condition.

Answer to Question No. 3: 3. The bite of the wood tick may cause an infectious disease that has been named "Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever" in the western part of the United States. Recently a similar fever has been found in the eastern portion of the United States and is transmitted by the bite of the dog tick. A vaccine for both types of fever has been developed and the use of antibiotics is effecting cures. (Copyright 1950 by Health Information Foundation)

Give Farewell Party For Virginia Stahle

Virginia Stahle, before her family left for their new home in Seattle, Wash., was given a farewell party at the Park Pool by her Girl Scout Troop 38 friends.

The girls will miss Virginia, and she will miss them, for they have been friends ever since entering first grade of Orinda Grammar School.

The only one not able to enjoy a swim was Karen Collins, whose leg was still in a cast; Karen broke her leg in the early part of vacation, while playing.

Lafayette Forum Membership Tea

The Annual Membership Tea of the Lafayette Forum next Tuesday will introduce to the organization's membership the newly chosen place — Veterans Memorial Building — and a change in day and hour — Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

The Membership Tea, which is scheduled as the first meeting each fall, is planned by the officers of the Forum for welcoming to the membership of the group all women interested in becoming members and the signing up for the new year of the former Forum members.

According to Mrs. Roy J. Heffner, membership chairman, she and her committee will be on hand throughout the afternoon to issue membership cards.

This committee will also serve in welcoming all Lafayette women who would like to attend this Forum meeting as guests in order to become acquainted with the organization.

THE AFTERNOON'S PROGRAM promises to be of special interest, as the guest speaker for the tea will be Dr. Edith Bryan, well-known lecturer and family counselor. Those in charge of the program point out that Dr. Bryan, who has appeared in Lafayette many times, has always brought an interesting and informative message.

Those serving with Mrs. Heffner in signing up prospective members and issuing cards to the membership Tuesday afternoon include Mesdames Edward Decker, Jack Jacques, Ray Grant, Mel Nielsen, H. H. Hindman, E. E. Friday, Charles Weber and Arthur Stipes.

Robert Boyles Keep All of 'Em Happy

The Robert Boyles of St. James Court kept both their families happy vacation-time this year.

Stella Boyle with her small daughters, Margaret Mary and Suzanne, traveled to Detroit, Mich., for a five-week vacation with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Demchak. Reunion with some of her classmates from Marygrove College was one of the many occasions responsible for the success of their trip.

Meanwhile, Bob took off in the other direction, driving his two sons, Robert and Peter Robert, to San Gabriel, Calif., to stay with his folks, the Lee Boyles of that city.

Clipper-Shipmate Musicale Sept. 14

September 14 is the day and the Joe Long's home in Sleepy Hollow is the place for the musicale sponsored by the Orinda Clippers and Shipmates. The Orinda Symphony Orchestra, directed by Dan Popovich, and including Mesdames Lois Flenner, violinist; Evangeline Homnold, second violin; Laura Huddell, cellist, and Eva Bailey, viola, accompanied by Popovich, will play several numbers.

There will be flute selections by Tom Hageman, a flutist of great ability who has recently received a scholarship for further study at the Curtis School of Music.

Margaret Popovich will sing a group of vocal solos by Debussy and Liszt, and will also play piano selections by Bach and Chopin.

Doing One's Part

DOING one's part brings joy and peace, satisfies conscience, maintains one's self-respect, and opens the way for larger opportunity and achievement. The right thinker is ever alert to do his part. A proper sense of responsibility and a readiness to discharge the obligations which duty, justice, and love demand mark the spiritually intelligent worker.

What one may justly be called upon to do as his part varies with circumstances and with individual ability. For some it may mean the cheerful performance of school, home, or office duties, for others the requirements may have wider scope. As one does wholeheartedly, gladly, generously, all he can do, his capacity increases. Thus he learns that his part is to help and to bless whenever and wherever the need arises. . . .

The right thinker and worker, through prayer and through living his prayer, puts to rout the temptation to escape honest effort. He does his duty. Jesus illustrated this in the parable of the two sons whose father bade them go and work in his vineyard. The first said he would not go, but afterward he went. The second said he would go, but did not. Jesus asked (Matthew 21:31), "Whether of them twain did the will of his father?"

Obviously the one who did his father's will was not the son who acquiesced in words and not in deeds, but rather the son who went and performed his duty. Apparently he had to win a battle against self before he went; but being a conscientious thinker and worker, he prevailed against the temptation to evade duty and proceeded to do his part.

Soft words without sincerity, an outward grace without spiritual love, a promise to do not backed by honest intent and earnest endeavor, never demonstrate true selfhood, which is seen in stability, high purpose, and worthy achievement. Thinking which adheres to divine Principle cannot be enticed into the bog of mental laziness, personal ease, and neglect of duty.

The chronic effort to find for oneself a way of ease sometimes results in loss of strength and health, in disillusionment and frustration. Work left undone is followed by mental poverty and a woeful spiritual lack, out of which grow dissatisfaction, tedium, and boredom. One engulfed in the self-indulgent attitude of seeking to get without giving must eventually learn that this is impossible. It is a spiritual law that to receive one must impart.

Far from being uninteresting or fatiguing, to do one's part is joyously refreshing and enlivening. The willing worker imparts good and receives good. He brings to the performance of duty vitality, vigor, and happy enthusiasm, which is satisfying to himself and arousing to those with whom he comes in contact. Doing one's part increases moral and spiritual strength, dignifies and beautifies human character, makes one more lovingly aware of the needs of others and better equipped to be of service. . . .

In her book "Miscellaneous Writings" Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says (p. 340), "There is no excellence without labor; and the time to work, is now." When we learn this truth, stop seeking an easy way out, and set ourselves to doing well whatever is ours to do, our progress is sure and swift. Obedience to the divine demand to watch, work, and pray is always right. It is the way of harmony and greater achievement. The way of right doing is the way that leads to the understanding and demonstration of man's perfection as the spiritual idea of God, wherein is no error and divine glory is expressed. The Christian Science Monitor.

Nancy Soule Becomes Mrs. Madeira In 4 o'clock Ceremony at St. Paul's

St. Paul's Episcopal Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra for the 4 o'clock marriage ritual of Nancy Pomroy Soule and Ward Alden Madeira of Berkeley last Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Edward Cope Crosson officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, Everett Pomroy Soule, Nancy wore a simply designed white satin gown for the ceremony. The skirt ended in a long train, and tiny satin-covered buttons trimmed the front of the bodice, which was made with a high neckline and long, fitted sleeves. A white satin cap trimmed in seed pearls held her illusion veil in place.

THE HONOR ATTENDANTS, Mrs. Frank Bernard Dickey of Lafayette and Miss Carolyn Little of Los Angeles, wore ice blue satin.

Contrasting dusty pink satin fashioned the bridesmaids' frocks, the matching headbands entwined with strings of pearls. Their bouquets were yellow summer blossoms. The secondary attendants were Mrs. Mary Flynn of Merced, Mrs. William Jamieson of Piedmont, Mrs. Manford Funsten of San Francisco and Mrs. S. Bradstreet Hoyt of Oakland.

Hortense Soule of Lafayette, niece of the bride, wore a bouffant satin frock and carried a basket of flowers for her flower girl role.

Mrs. David John Findlay chose a silk faille and matching hat trimmed with iridescent beads for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Ward Madeira, wore a changeable silk taffeta frock and pinned a corsage of pink cymbidiums to the shoulder. Best man for his brother was William Madeira of San Jose, with Frank Dickey, George Parrish, Paul Penberthy, Robert Kennedy and Thomas Howards performing ushering duties.

FOLLOWING THEIR Lake Tahoe honeymoon, the newlyweds will make their home in Lafayette.

A member of the Junior League, Children's Hospital of the East Bay and Spinsters and Dames, Nancy was an Alpha Pi at the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward A. Madeira of Berkeley are the groom's parents. He was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta at the University of California.

Catholic Women In Peace Prayers
The Catholic Women's Club of Santa Maria Church will participate in the Lady of Fatima prayers for world peace at the 8 o'clock mass tomorrow.

The Santa Marians will also receive group communion at the 8 o'clock mass on Sunday.

Will you be killed tomorrow? Drive very carefully.

Swimming Pools Popular Places

Recent hot days made the Country Club pool, Park Pool and the many private pools very popular places for children and adults alike. Orinda women and children have a fine tan this summer. There has surely been a lot of outdoor living.

I'm Frank ...

and puff, puff, puff — whee!!! Here it is the end of August and we are still selling those inflated toys for swimming pools. Jack Cooper, God bless his soul, just came in for one of those double extra large inflated sea horses that we sell, and, when I started to wrap it up, he gave out with, "Now, wait a minute, 'Curly'. I spent a lot of money for this sea-going mare, and I want a little service with it. Sooooo — start blowing, 'cause I'm riding it home."

Pardon me a minute — puff, puff, whee!!! — puff, puff, whee!!!

Now, after I put my eyeballs back in their sockets, I'll continue (oops, got one in cockeyed — slippery things, aren't they?).

What that overgrown "Hopalong" doesn't know is that I've been using that special hot air I use while writing this column and, once he gets outdoors with this horse, he'll go soaring into the wild blue yonder. We'll be able to say that "old customers never die, they just float away."

Orinda Hardware still has a good stock of these inflated toys and, if you blow them up yourself, you won't have to worry about floating away.

Wilbur Twining, the old master fence builder from the far away hills of La Encinal, was surprised at the accuracy of our nail department.

When Wilbur asked for enough nails to build 200 feet of redwood fence, he had that chubby, bald-headed guy wait on him.

"Now, I don't like to be fussy," he said, "but every time I buy nails here, I have enough left over to keep my kids busy for six months nailing them into the floor, beds, table and any other thing that a nail will go into — including cats and dogs.

"This time," says he, "I want enough nails, out just enough, or I'm going to bring my kids and the nails down to your Orinda Hardware store and turn them loose."

Well, I quivered a little at this and, after a lot of mental arithmetic (this meant taking off my shoes, so I could use my toes to count with, too) weighed the nails for Wilbur and home he went to hammer away.

A week later, when he came back to Orinda Hardware, he caught me sneaking out the back door (you see, I knew I'd made a mistake, because I have 11 toes, and that extra toe kept throwing me off count).

"Baldy," he bellowed (Oh! Now I was going to get it). "You're wonderful."

"What cooks?" I asked, surprised. "You look happy, what did I do?"

"It so happens," said Wilbur, "that my fence is all built and I have only five nails left. So, because I can't divide them evenly among my children, I've brought them back to you for credit. Now, if you'll just return my money for these five, I'll go away and leave you alone — for a while, anyway."

As he left, he said, "I hope, for your sake, you can do the same with paint, because I've got to paint that fence with that good Boyens's 100% pure fence paint, and oh, brother, what a mess my kids could make of this store if I have any left over!"

Gosh!!! and

For Holamuus, Imu-Kalua Pig, Bathing Beauties - Sept. 8th Luau's the Spot

Kalua pig, that is, fresh from the imu. And plenty of other succulent goodies, including lau laus done in true Tahitian style under the deft hand of Trader Vic. Plus the purely staple foder, such as chicken curry and rice, baked sweet potatoes, and the other lovely island delicacies.

All this at the Orinda Branch Hawaiian Luau at the Jellon home in Happy Valley September 8, proceeds from which go to the Children's Hospital to care for Contra Costa children.

Vic and his right-hand man, George Gooding, just engineered a similar party last Saturday evening in the surf room at Pebble Beach.

FESTIVITIES GET under way at 6, with the Athens Club Aquacade, under the direction of the Olsens, Zoe Ann's ma and pa, starting PROMPTLY AT 7! It's an all-new show this time, with brand new seductive type bathing suits by Jantzen, and Tahitian routines to take place in the flower-filled pool.

Tahitian music will float throughout the garden during the party, with exciting native dancing and singing taking place after dinner. Guests are invited to join in the Tahitian torches under the apt tutelage of George.

The reservation list has been filled, but Mrs. Thomas Telfer of Orinda is taking names on a waiting list in case of cancellations.

A luau takes many days of preparation, beginning with the arrangements made by Mrs. Jellon in Honolulu, at the termination of the Trans-Pacific Race, for tea leaves, pineapples, leis and flowers. Then United Air Lines step into the picture, flying things over fresh for the party.

ALAS, WE FORGOT to ship the lava rock. But Vic to the rescue. He finds lava rock up near St. Helena.

Luckily, the hole is still there for the imu from last year's Luau. So a few days ahead of time George and his Tahitians round up the dozen pigs staked out some time ago for fattening by Vic. Then the torches are set out, Japanese lanterns strung and the ladies of the branch don muumuus, holamuus, holokaus, chinmuus and just plain old sarongs and await the guests.

THE LADIES OF the branch are Mrs. Woodburn K. Lamb, party chairman; Mrs. Stephen Jensen, entertainment chairman; Mrs. Edmund Cardin and Mrs. Emmett Kilpatrick, refreshments; Mrs. C. F. Dailley, transportation; Mrs. Robert Bolman, publicity; Mrs. Frank Fee, decorations; Mrs. William Foster, props; Mrs. Robert Bridges, Mrs. Arthur Scheu, Mrs. Beach Dean, Mrs. Thomas Telfer, Mrs. Dan Sheldon, Mrs. Lyle York, Mrs. Fred Goodwin, Mrs. Ernest Kahl, Mrs. Fred Borden, Mrs. Ted Beckett, Mrs. Herman Eickmeyer, Mrs. R. ## That West Point 'Cheating Scandal' - Where Does Responsibility Really Lie?

By ERWIN MATTSO

One of the things which has struck the sports world is the so-called cheating scandal at West Point.

On the basis of reports, it seems as if some students in one class passed the word on to another class, taking the same subject, as to what the examination was about.

I could be wrong, but it seems to me as if a mountain has been made out of a molehill.

IF YOU HAD a roommate taking an exam at 10 a. m. in math and you saw him before you took an exam at 2 p. m., the chances are you would ask what it was about and the chances are he would tell you.

Under such conditions the examinations should have been different or the examination should have been given to all at the same time. One thing for certain is that it is most unfortunate that the situation was handled the way it was.

LOTS OF POOR publicity and as usual, a lot of politicians jumping at the opportunity for some personal publicity by demanding everything from an F. B. investigation to doing away with the Army's West Point and the Navy's Academy at Annapolis.

Rest assured that Annapolis and West Point have the cream of the crop in training. What happened was a result of the way examinations were administered.

As one individual put it, the one thing that proved was that the cadets were human.

Congress had best investigate some of its members and officials who have really cheated. I recall a couple of high officials who were merely transferred for things far worse than the cadets did.

CHEATING IS NOT to be condoned under any circumstances, but it certainly seems that it was a little too much to give two groups the same examination, with time between, and not expect trouble to arise.

I wonder how many of the congressmen who are yelling so loud could pass the entrance examination at West Point, let alone graduate.

Might be a good idea to have an examination requirement for Congress, at that?

Cap Sandford Sez:

PRIZE-FIGHTING AND THOSE WHO PARTICIPATE in the so-called "manly art" are very different today from what they were when I was a youngster.

Many years ago Jake Kilrain and John L. Sullivan fought the most ferocious battle so far recorded in the history of fistfights — 55 rounds with bare hands.

After the bout, considerable geometrical and geographical alterations had been made on both parties, and out of this melee, John L. Sullivan emerged the victor.

I well remember seeing these two old-time warriors putting on a three-round exhibition contest in Glasgow, Scotland, which I saw and enjoyed about 50 years ago. J. L. at that time had a somewhat pendulous stomach and Jake Kilrain was a scrawny old buzzard.

I recall John L. Sullivan telling me in his rich Irish brogue a story about meeting a friend in Boston who looked at his stomach admiringly or incredulously and said, "John L., you old devil, I believe if you could work that corporation off the front of you, you could fight yet." And he said to him, "I believe I could." And his friend said, "You would have some fun getting it off, though." "And I said to him," said John L., "And I had some darn good fun getting it on, let me tell you."

Many wonderful stories were told of John L. Sullivan, whose chief ingredient for training was hard liquor — and he took plenty of that.

I WAS VERY MUCH AMUSED to read in the papers that a certain snake which had swallowed a hen's egg crawled partly through a crack in a fence and then swallowed another one, and so, until such time as nature could take its somewhat questionable course, it seems to me that that snake was so hog-tied, stymied or what-have-you as to be totally incapable of pursuing his or her normal activities.

Rev. Fay is a graduate of the University of California and took three years of religious training at the Virginia Theological Seminary, which he completed last June.

He delivered a thought-provoking sermon on St. Stephen, the martyr for whom the Orinda church was named, and emphasized the challenge to each parishioner to follow his standards more closely in everyday life.

After church services, Mrs. H. W. Pillsbury acted as hostess for the coffee hour.

Rev. and Mrs. Fay will be residing in Orinda as soon as they are able to find a home. Until then, he may be reached at Landscape 4-3773.

First general Fall meeting of the Auxiliary will be held in September, the exact date to be announced later.

The Rev. Fay announces that this Sunday, morning prayer and sermon will be at 9:30; Holy Communion will be held at the same time the following Sunday, September 9, and beginning September 16, services will be at 11.

Church school will hold its first session on Sunday, September 16, the primary grades at 11 a.m. and the secondary grades at 9:30 a.m.

First Birthday for Kids' Fairyland

Tomorrow the first anniversary of the opening of Children's Fairyland will be celebrated with a special program at 2 p.m. honoring all those who contributed their time, talents and money to make possible this unique feature in the Oakland park system, according to J. Vandes Mann, president of the Park Board. "After a year of operation our records show conclusively that this is the most popular feature in any of Oakland's parks, as attendance has been approximately 400,000 since Children's Fairyland was opened on September 2, 1950," Mann declared. "A birthday party at this time, with a giant cake and huge candle, with a program of marionettes, chalk talks, folk songs for youngsters, and presentation of certificates of achievement to outstanding citizens who worked for the success of Fairyland, will stress the unity of civic, fraternal and business groups who have cooperated to make this a project Oaklanders are proud of," Mann continued. ## Proper Shoes Vital for Kids

Children's feet grow rapidly. From six to 10 years of age sizes change every eight or 12 weeks, even more rapidly before they become of school age.

Thus youngster's feet are in the formative stage, which means that unless they are correctly fitted, posture may ensue later.

One of the most important tasks mothers have to undertake at the beginning of each new school term is to see to it that their youngsters are properly shod.

School Cowboy Suit? Read This

Novelty outfits paying homage to TV and movie stars have more and more found their way to school, often over mother's protest. And she's been right half the time, for so many of these be-dicked uniforms have not stood hard usage.

Responsible manufacturers have recognized the need for better quality and have eliminated contrasting colors and trim which bleed when washed, applique which disintegrates in the wash water and fringe which no Buffalo Bill worthy of his six-shooter would be caught alive in after one washing.

If it's a cowboy outfit your child must have, look for streamlined, basic designs devoid of fancy trim.

Anti-Crabgrass Fight Now On; Here's Timely Advice on Effective Methods

By BERT WRIGHT
ABOUT THIS TIME every summer, gardeners, greenskeepers and home owners are furiously fighting crabgrass.

In late summer, crabgrass is sure to be the Number 1 lawn and turf problem. However, its evil effects are not restricted to this season, since it leaves thin and spotty sod.

The lack of good regular lawn care and the use of unwise maintenance practices are largely responsible for bad infestations of crabgrass. Well fed, dense, healthy lawns have little crabgrass trouble.

CRABGRASS SEEDS start germinating in mid-June or July and make furious growth during the hot summer months when most lawn grasses are at a standstill.

In late summer the crabgrass plant, being an annual, forms seed heads, matures and turns brown.

One crabgrass plant has been known to produce as many as a quarter of a million seeds. New areas may become infested with these seeds, carried by birds, on the soles of shoes, in manure, in soil used for top dressing and in a number of ways.

PREVENTING THE CRABGRASS plant from reseeding itself is the first step in control.

Even though it will be impossible to keep all the seed from maturing, this is an important step in crabgrass control.

During the summer let the crabgrass grow to a height of two to three inches before mowing. This will prevent stooling near the ground, and the seed heads will form high on the plant.

WHEN THE GRASS is two to three inches high, mow, using a catcher on the mower to collect the clippings so they can be destroyed. Immediately after mowing, rake the lawn to straighten up remaining crabgrass shoots and then mow again in the opposite direction of the raking to cut off the raked-up stems.

Repeat this program as many times as necessary to prevent the seed from maturing. Remember, let the crabgrass get high so the seed heads will be where the mower can get them.

AS SOON AS THE crabgrass starts turning light brown (late August or September), use a rake to loosen the soil in areas covered with crabgrass.

Feed the entire lawn area with complete plant food at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet. Water the plant food into the soil, and in three to four days seed with a good grade of grass seed.

This seeding is best done at least one month prior to the first killing frost in order to permit the new grass plants to develop a good top growth and a deep sturdy root system before winter.

THE CULTURAL PRACTICES necessary to maintain a good lawn are also the practices that will keep crabgrass out of a lawn.

One of the most important of these is nutrition, that is, supplying ample and balanced supply of plant food nutrients to keep a dense, heavy sod that will not give crabgrass a chance.

An early fall and an early spring feeding of complete plant food at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet will supply all the nutrients needed.

SINCE MOST LAWN grasses go into a "near-dormant" state during the hot summer months, if grass is clipped too low a weak stand will result. This will give crabgrass a chance to come in.

As soon as the spring growth slows down, lawn grasses should be clipped high. Bluegrass should be cut about one and three-fourths to two inches high during the summer.

Light, frequent sprinklings during the summer will stimulate crabgrass growth and encourage shallow rooting of desirable grasses. If artificial watering is needed, the lawn should be thoroughly soaked to a depth of four or five inches, and this should be done only when the soil is very dry. Never give grass a mere sprinkling during the summer months.

WE HOPE THAT some day a chemical will be developed that will effectively control crabgrass without danger of injury to desirable grasses... such as the chemicals we now have for control of broad-leaf weeds.

Most authorities agree that the chemicals now on the market for crabgrass control are not selective enough, that the possibilities of injury to desirable grasses are too great.

If you use any of these chemicals, first try the treatment on a small area to check the effectiveness of kill and the damage to desirable grasses.

Remember, it's the well-fed, dense, heavy-sodded healthy lawns that have the minimum of crabgrass trouble, and NOW is the time to start the crabgrass control program.

Sunday will be "Family Day" for the Assembly of God Church. Special musical numbers will be sung by the family of Rev. J. K. Soper. Visitors are invited, and members are urged to bring their entire families.

Mrs. Henry Warren has been elected as the new Sunday School Superintendent for the coming Sunday School year. Plans are underway, as the appointment of several new teachers. An increase is expected in attendance as the new program is launched.

In the young people's Christ Ambassadors meeting Sunday night everyone present was asked to participate in the "Surprise Service." Hidden talent was discovered in instrumental and vocal numbers were rendered.

At the Teen-Age club meeting last week at the home of Margo and Carol Swenson, the program was highlighted by the special guest musician, Ralph Silva of San Francisco. His skillful playing of the accordion is enjoyed by music lovers in this area, where he is a well-known gospel musician and music teacher.

Covenant Sermon: Christian's Mind

"The Christian's Mind" will be the subject of Rev. Joel S. Peterson's morning message this Sunday at Mission Covenant Church in Lafayette.

The evening sermon will be on "The Voice of Conscience." Morning services are at 11; evening services at 7.

Regarding his Sunday morning sermon, Rev. Peterson says: "In Paul's Epistle to the Philippians, the author tells the Christians they should have the mind of Christ. He points out the example of Christ in stepping down to humanity from Godhood's exalted level, giving His life on the cross in obedience to His Father."

"His was a sacrificial life. We, too, as Christians are to have the same attitude of mind as Christ, gladly giving ourselves for the good of others because we love Christ."

Dedicate PG&E's New Steam Plant

The giant, multimillion dollar Contra Costa Steam Plant near Antioch—one of the nation's largest electric generating plants—joined Pacific Gas and Electric Company's far-flung power network at formal dedication ceremonies Wednesday.

Acting Governor Gordon J. Knight climaxed the dedication by closing a control switch, ceremonially "cutting in" the plant to the interconnected utility system. Approximately 400 civic and industrial leaders of nine counties inspected the huge installation as part of the ceremonial.

Situated at historic Marsh's Landing, 2½ miles east of Antioch on the San Joaquin River, Contra Costa is the ninth new generating plant P.G. and E. has built and put into service since World War II.

President James B. Black accepted the new plant for P.G. and E. from Stephen D. Bechtel, president of Bechtel Corporation, the builder.

Echoes from Canyon's Past

When Redwoods Rang with Feudin', Fightin', Shootin'

(This is the third of series of articles on the history and the tales of early-day Canyon. As you'll learn by reading the article, there was plenty of excitement beneath the redwoods in that period.)

By GLADYS SHALLY
BEFORE CANYON SETTLED down to be the quiet, quaint little community it is today, it had its share of shootings, feuds, fires and mysteries.

Although many happenings are lost in the sands of time, the Bird-Wallace shooting is one incident which will never be forgotten by old-timers.

Harry Bird, owner of the first hotel in Canyon, was a nice guy, and folks of about 64 years ago were very much surprised when he shot George Wallace through the back, killing him.

The shooting took place not far from the hotel, in broad daylight and before witnesses.

Reason for the shooting is a little dim now — there are two conjectures as to the cause of the murder. One was that it was merely the climax in a disagreement over property boundary lines. The other, more romantic, account is that Wallace, a nice guy, too, had the misfortune to fall for the same attractive miss whom Bird was courting.

It is said that she spurned the attentions of both men and eloped with a third.

After the shooting Bird was placed under guard while a man rode for Sheriff Rankin. A local citizen who went by the nickname of "Ape" was left to guard the corpse.

As it grew darker under the whispering redwoods, the man decided he, and not the corpse, needed companionship. He went to Blackberry Joe, a local resident, with the excuse: "I gotta to tinkin' an' I no like what I tink — mebbe so Sheriff say I killa heem and I go to jail."

However, it was Bird who went to San Quentin, where he died some years later.

George Wallace is still remembered around Canyon, as he left his land to Canyon as a location on which the school was built. Wallace's cabin stood on what is now the Canyon School playgrounds.

A SUICIDE OF ABOUT 20 years ago caused much talk at the time, but there was no mystery about the tragedy — except questions as to why a man who presumably had everything to live for would take his own life by shooting.

Just prior to that time — some time in the 10-15s — there occurred two mysteries which were never cleared up.

"The corpse on the bridge trail," could well be the title of a present day "whodunit," was in fact just that. A fully clothed man from whom, however, all marks of identification had been removed, with no marks of violence upon his body, was found beside the bridge trail which was used by Canyon residents.

The trail followed an old lumber road up through the redwoods to a dirt road on the ridge between Redwood Canyon and Brown's Valley.

It was never discovered how he came to die there beneath the tall redwoods.

THE OTHER "MYSTERY" was a live one — an amnesia victim. The man appeared one day in Ma-drone Park and took up residence there. As he seemed harmless and was exceedingly shy, the caretaker of the park allowed him to stay.

Mr. Mystery selected a hollow tree to hang up his shaving mirror and his coat. He was very neat and clean — he shaved every day and bathed in the creek. But he would fade out of sight if anyone but Jack, the caretaker, put in an appearance.

Jack allowed him to earn a little money by working about the park; once he had him do a bit of work at his home. The man was invited into the house for lunch. His table manners were correct, but when he was spoken to, his face registered only a blank look of vague wonder, and he could not or would not talk.

One day when he faded out of sight he just didn't return.

One wonders, did he suddenly regain his memory? or was he acting the whole time?

Perhaps he was an escapee from some prison or asylum. Perhaps he saw someone of whom he was afraid. At any rate, he took his shaving mirror and coat — and just vanished.

ONE OF THE FUNNIER sides of petty larceny, which always seems to be with it, is illustrated in the following true tale.

Canyon, nestled almost on the fringe of Contra Costa County, has always been far from law headquarters. In the old days, citizens took care of handing out justice according to their own lights.

It is seldom that a guardian of the law has found it necessary to visit this quiet little community. Once in the not-too-distant past, when autos were beginning to come into their own, a certain resident metered out a little justice of his own brand to a petty larcenist and had a good laugh at the same time.

For some weeks someone had been regularly removing gas from the tank of his car, which he kept parked on the road above his house.

The resident hit on one sure way to identify the culprit. He filled the car's tank with water.

Sure enough, the next morning the tank was dry. That morning, a short distance from his house, he could hear a car's motor turning over but not firing. From his vantage point high on the hill he chuckled as he observed a near neighbor (of the unfriendly type) walk down the road to where a man lived who had some mechanical knowledge of cars.

Together the men, in a car, returned to low the stalled car to the mechanic's yard, where the two of them spent the day taking the engine apart, while the resident watching, enjoyed their labors.

There is no end to this story; we leave it to the reader to wonder whether they finally found the cause of the trouble, whether the law stepped in, or whether the resident ever again had gas stolen from his car.

THE PIONEER DAYS saw plenty of feudin' and fightin' in Canyon. Like settlers in other parts of the new territory of the West, a homesteader had to fight to keep what was rightfully his.

Blackberry Joe, one of the first homesteaders in this area, built his cabin and was getting the beginnings of a herd to run on his holdings. A neighboring rancher, however, was unfriendly to him. Should Joe ride onto this rancher's land in search of a stray, he was sure to experience the whine of a bullet past his ear. Should he not find his stray, it was lost for good, gobbled up into the herd of his neighbor, although he could never prove this.

Joe also claimed that whenever the said neighbor needed meat for his table, it was one of Joe's cows in a small way when quite a large number of the neighbor's cows happened to stray almost to Joe's corral. He quickly corralled them, then sent word to the man that he could get them back providing he paid $1 a head for hay which the animals had eaten (although they had eaten none).

Witnesses were on Joe's side, and the neighbor had to pay for the release of his strays.

By then the man sought to get rid of Joe for good and all. He and his rider caught him out alone, but Joe managed to escape to the safety of his cabin.

Then the cabin was surrounded and he was given on his own until the riders would start riddling the cabin, unless he would come out and promise to leave the county.

However, in the meantime, another neighbor got word of the fight and arrived in time to save Joe and chase the unfriendly one and his riders off.

Thereafter Joe was left in peace; it had been found that he had powerful friends.

BLACKBERRY JOE at one time had a run-in with a bandit whom he said he thought to be Joaquín Murietta.

Although Love's Rangers claimed to have killed the 23-year-old Joaquín in 1853 at Arroyo Contina, there were many who swore that Murietta escaped — some said to Mexico and others said he stayed around central California, died there and was buried in the Clayton Cemetery.

It was claimed that he was a frequent visitor in this area, and that he was a cousin of a prominent Mexican family living near Canyon.

But whether by Joaquín Murietta or by Francisco Cervantes, another early-day bandit, there were many who were robbed by bandits in the '60s and '70s.

Blackberry Joe's contact with the bandit was the result of a sale of cows, for which Joe received $300. Hardly had he returned home with the money when there came a soft knock on the door, which Joe opened to a good-looking Mexican.

Said Murietta (if it were he): "I hear you have $300 from the sale of your cattle. I would borrow that amount and I promise to pay it back."

Knowing that if he didn't acquiesce, he would probably be shot and the bandit would get the money anyway, Joe handed over the money.

"Good," said the Mexican, "I like a brave man. Now if you will meet me at the crossroads (where the Moraga Road and the old Hayward Road met) at midnight on such-and-such a date, I will pay back your money — and you had better be there."

It was with genuine fear that Joe rode out one dark night for his rendezvous with the bandit (although he feared more not to go). As he waited at midnight at the crossroads, he heard the drumming of hoofs, and up dashed a figure who pushed a bag at Joe and galloped off.

Joe galloped in the opposite direction for his cabin, where he dismounted, dashed inside and barred the door.

When he opened the bag, he found not $300 — but $500!

BANDITS WERE NEVER known to harm anyone in this area who did them a favor. The ranchers always gave them what they demanded in the food line and so were never robbed of money.

At one time a bandit and several other men rode up to the ranch-house of one of the early settlers and asked for food for himself and his men. The frightened homesteader's wife, who was all alone, quavered, "Kill a yearlin'" and locked herself in. The bandits caught a steer, butchered it then and there, loaded it on a pack horse and rode off.

ANOTHER SETTLER'S WIFE, alone at home, was approached by a bandit who demanded a fresh horse to replace his wounded animal. Fearing to do otherwise, she told him to take his pick of the corralled horses.

He did, taking an ordinary animal, and hurriedly galloped off. It was found the horse he left in exchange was a much better animal and only temporarily exhausted.

Yum, Yummy! New Stoneman Bakery

Utilizing new equipment valued at $60,000, the new bread section of Camp Stoneman's post bakery began operation August 14. Officially at the grand opening was Colonel George S. Wise, post quartermaster.

Nine bakers per eight-hour shift are required to operate the equipment which is capable of baking approximately 20,136 loaves in 24 hours, enough bread for 65,000 troops.

The processes are all accomplished automatically with a minimum of effort on the part of the bakers.

County Teachers Meet Next Week

Nearly 2,000 Contra Costa teachers will convene in Pittsburg and Concord Tuesday for the first sessions of a two-day county institute, preceding the reopening of school September 10.

All teachers of the area from Redwood eastward will attend, while the remainder will participate in the Richmond institute, according to County Superintendent B. O. Wilson.

Sessions at the Vogue Theater in Pittsburg and the Eneen Theater in Concord will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will feature identical programs, alternating in the morning and afternoon. Teachers from the Alacanes area will attend the Concord session.

Featured speakers will be Dr. John H. Furby, director of Air World Education at Kansas City, Mo., and Jeff H. Williams, Oklahoma attorney.

James W. Dent, superintendent of Mt. Diablo Unified District, will preside at the Concord meeting.

Here's Health Department 'Arsenal'

Role of the County Health Department in protecting Contra Costa residents is emphasized by its maintaining the practice of keeping on hand supplies of certain biologics which are important to the county's health.

Smallpox, typhoid, para-typhoid, diphtheria, tetanus, diph-tetanus, pertussis mixture, immune serum globulin and various others are among the biologics stocked.

THESE ARE AVAILABLE for use at baby conferences, immunization clinics and school immunization programs which are held periodically at various points in the county.

Because of lack of adequate space, immunizations are not ordinarily given at the central office at Martinez, but information on where they are given can be obtained from the Health Department, Hall of Records, Martinez.

THE DEPARTMENT prefers that people utilize services of their local doctor, particularly for travel immunizations, due to the great expense in operating an immunization program, together with the need of continued health service.

However, the Health Department continues to offer its immunization facilities to those people who need county services, particularly in a continuing school program.

Motorists - Do You Know New School Bus Law?

The California Highway Patrol has appealed to all motorists to acquaint themselves with the new school bus law which becomes effective September 22. Beginning on that date all school buses must be equipped with flashing red signal lights on the front and rear, to be operated only when the bus is stopped to receive or discharge children who must cross the road or street.

When the red signal lights are flashing motorists in all lanes of traffic must come to a complete stop, and remain stopped until the signals cease flashing. The only exception is on a divided highway when motorists traveling in the opposite roadway need not halt.

The old law required motorists to come to a halt for a stopped school bus and then proceed at a speed not more than 10 miles an hour.

The new warning signal system specified by the Patrol consists of two alternately flashing red lamps on the front of school buses, mounted above the windshield, and two similar flashing lamps on the rear, mounted above the window line. The lights are to be actuated by the school bus driver only when danger of striking a child exists.

Ceramics and Weaving Highlight Plans For Festival's 'Art in Action' Show

Art in Action took the spotlight this week as plans for the Walnut Festival Art Show went forward with the selection of a ceramics jury and awards group in addition to completing plans for a weaving and crafts exhibit.

The art show will open with a preview event on September 20 and continue for public inspection throughout the Walnut Festival, September 21, 22 and 23.

Nancy Clough, head of the Potter's group, revealed prizes for pottery totaling $100 with the top award set at $50 cash.

"Anyone anywhere is eligible for entry in the juried Pottery show," Mrs. Clough announced.

MAKING UP the jury of selection and awards are Eileen Reynolds of San Francisco; Antonio Prieto, head of the ceramics department at Mills College and Vernon R. Coykendall, ceramics teacher at California College of Arts and Crafts. Seated at the potter's wheel in the Art in Action section will be Mrs. Edmund S. Barnett of Lafayette; Eileen Atkins and Inez Butz, both of Danville, and Calvin Shafer of Concord.

Demonstrating slip casting and hand built methods will be Eleanor Condon and Gertrude Cunningham of Walnut Creek, and Stephanie Cyr of Lafayette.

Collection stations for pottery will be Mills College and the California

Arts and Crafts pottery department; the Lucien Labaudt Art Gallery in San Francisco and Mort Brown Pontiac, Walnut Creek. Entries may also be mailed to P.O. Box 704, Walnut Creek.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the announcement of pottery developments came word from Susan Campbell, head of the weaving section, of plans for an extensive weaving show this year. Entry forms may be had at the Craft Shop in Lafayette, or by contacting Mrs. Campbell at 3450 Oak Grove Road, Concord.

Jean Evers, of Lafayette, will demonstrate weaving during the Art Show. Mrs. Campbell asks local weavers to mail their entries to P. O. Box 704, Walnut Creek or turn them in to Dale King at the Craft Shop.

Mrs. King, who heads the crafts section, will have working with her Doris Clifford of Orinda and Mildred Rackley of Lafayette in a demonstration of silk screen and block printing. Other art in action exhibits are planned by Mrs. King and will be announced at a later date.

Dig Deep Sept. 2. When Scout Drive Opens

When September 24 comes around and a volunteer rings your doorbell and asks for a contribution to the annual combined finance campaign of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scouts and the Diablo District Boy Scouts, don't hesitate.

Dig deep, because you are helping to build a strong foundation for the future leaders of America.

Drive leaders tell this story: AN OLD MAN WAS planting some peach trees in his yard—setting them in carefully, and with loving care of one that expected much of them.

A passerby said, "Do you ever expect to eat peaches from those trees?"

Replied the old man, "Probably not, but all my life I've been eating peaches planted by someone else."

Says Mrs. J. Wayland Barnette, general chairman:

"It takes a story sometimes to make us realize how much our world depends upon us. The scout program is the soundest plan we can follow, as parents, to have our sons and daughters grow up to realize their obligation to God, with courage, strength of character, strong, healthy bodies, good morale and a real hope for the future.

"SCOUTING GOES FAR in combatting juvenile delinquency during these frustrating times. In fact, Sheriff Long said, "We have no record of ever having a Boy Scout as a ward of this county's Juvenile Court." There could be no better proof that scouting, through its varied program, provides wholesome activities to fill otherwise dangerous leisure time.

"Your children are the boys and girls who will be America's answer to doctrines of regimentation, hate and intolerance that are foreign to our community and our country."

"In 1933 gifts were 5.9 per cent of our national income. Last year they were less than 1.5 per cent. This is a very black picture—BUT—this year let's change the color of things and DIG DEEP for the Boy and Girl Scouts of your community."

Mrs. Barnette stresses the need for drive volunteers, and asks that those volunteering their services phone her at Orinda 8176.

COMMUNITY CHAIRMEN are: Danville, David Holstrom; Walnut Creek, Mrs. E. F. Sawyer; Lafayette, Mrs. E. P. Sawyer; Orinda, Mrs. F. R. Devin; Pleasant Hill, Mrs. Walter Matson; Vaughn, Coghne; Ygnacio Valley, J. A. Shockey.

Drive with Care Over Labor Day!

Traffic over the Labor Day weekend will be heavier and the highway hazards greater than any other weekend this summer, the California Highway Patrol predicts.

While all available patrolmen will be on duty over the holiday, the three-day period may record the season's largest toll of death and injuries unless all drivers accept personal responsibility for their own safety, the patrol declared.

"During the Labor Day holiday last year 36 persons were killed and 623 were injured on the rural highways alone," Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson said. "We hope to keep well below that figure this year."

This Area Gives $1633 to Disaster Victims

Thanks to the generosity of the people living within Mt. Diablo Red Cross Chapter's area, $1,633.31 has been given to help the people in the Midwest disaster area rebuild their homes and once again become self-supporting.

Mrs. Phyllis Spahr and her workers collected $150 from the Alameda region. Mrs. Phoebe Sears and helpers sent $132.77 from Danville. Mrs. Harold Parker sent $5 from the Moraga area. Helen Dodge and her people collected $70 from Diablo residents.

Lafayette contributed $342.61 through Mrs. A. M. Cody and her assistants. Orinda gave $368.94 to Mrs. H. C. Gathings and her crew. Mrs. Samuel Bradbard reported $455.50 contributed by residents of Pleasant Hill.

Mrs. Gladys Hawkins and her helpers collected $220.87 while Mrs. John Irving reported $142.82 from the people of Walnut Creek. Anna Moscrop collected $74.50 from Ygnacio Valley residents.

Merchants in all the sections assisted in the drive by permitting the chapter to place tables of work in their stores to contact people. Many donors mailed checks directly to the chapter house.

The chapter thanks all who assisted in this work—the newspapers who were so generous in giving publicity, the merchants who allowed collections in their stores, the workers who manned the tables or telephoned prospective donors, and last but not least the donors themselves who made it possible for the chapter to send $1,633.31 to the disaster sufferers.

Schedule Jewish Sunday School; Meet Wednesday

Enrollments are being accepted for the Sunday School sponsored by the League of Jewish Women, scheduled to open the first week in October.

Space for classes has been reserved in the I.D.E.S. Hall on the Danville Highway, just opposite the new Broadway Shopping Center in Walnut Creek.

Children from 5 to 12 are eligible for enrollment, and parents are urged to send in their registrations at once to Mrs. Robert Feldman, 510 Masfield, Pleasant Hill.

"We have been assured of substantial financial assistance from the campaign funds for local needs of the Jewish Welfare Federation of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties," says Mrs. Rita Manders, chairman, Sunday School Committee, "but this Sunday School is a cooperative venture in which the assistance and interest of every Jewish family in this area is the absolute essence of its success."

To further formulate and develop plans for the Sunday School, an important meeting, which all parents are urged to attend, will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Feldman.

David Wolf of San Francisco and Lewis Freehof, executive secretary of Temple Emanuel of San Francisco, have been invited to lead the discussion at this meeting.

Contra Costa Day Saturday at State Fair

With Contra Costa County assuming an important role, the 92nd California State Fair opened its 11-day run at Sacramento Yesterday.

Tomorrow is Contra Costa County Day at the fair.

Packed with stellar attractions and teeming with eye-filling exhibits, the 1951 edition of California's festival, dedicated to youth, was ushered in with impressive ceremonies on The Mall, the tree-lined avenue leading from the fair's main entrance to the Counties Building.

IN THE COUNTIES BUILDING are the displays of Contra Costa and 37 other counties, as well as those of nine foreign nations, the California Wine Cellar and the Foreign Trade Zone of the Port of San Francisco.

Art, livestock, flowers, education, armed services, farm machinery, state civil defense, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company exhibit—plus varied nightly entertainment—are all part of the great look-see-hear event.

MRS. ALICE KEEN of Lafayette won second prize for her hankerchief, tatted edge, in the Home Economics Show handicrafts and needlework exhibit at the Woman's Building.

Among the 500 horses entered in the Horse Show are 13 from Contra Costa County. Included in these are three entered by June Saunders of Walnut Creek—Belle, children's mount; Arab Bell, Western, and Brandy, trail horse—and two entered by Mrs. Gerald Gray of Walnut Creek—Joey and Baldy, trail horses.

THE CONTRA COSTA COUNTY Development Association has prepared a county facts folder for distribution at the Contra Costa booth. Centered upon a theme of "The New and Greater Contra Costa," the folder contains numerous statistical facts touching upon developments of the last decade industrially, agriculturally and residentially.

The association expects to distribute 5,000 copies of the fair.

STUDENTS, ALUMNI and faculty members of the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland were awarded 16 prizes and honorable mention awards at the fair's Art Exhibition.

First prize winners on the faculty included Elah Hale Hays of Berkeley with her sculpture, "Immortal Force"; Ella W. Parker of Berkeley for her hand-woven clothing fabric, and Jean Varda of Sausalito in the Ceramics and Enameling Division with his "Form."

Lundy Siegfried of Oakland, an alumnus of the college, won first prize in the Modern Oil Painting division with his "Rock Cod." Siegfried also won an honorable mention in the print section. Ruth Rippon, a graduate of the college from Sacramento, won a first and second prize in the Ceramics and Enameling Division. Carlos Romero is choreographer for the big Night Theatrical Spectacle.

There will be three completely different shows—"Circus Days," starring Jerry Colonna, through Monday; "Way Out West," headlined by Sons of the Pioneers, next Tuesday and Wednesday; and a "Night in Bagdad," with Dennis Day as its star, September 6 through 9.

A great thrill for youngsters will be provided Tuesday night when Hopalong Cassidy makes an appearance in the show featuring the Sons of the Pioneers.

You can prolong the life of your silk umbrella by taking it into the shower with you for a good sprinkling now and then during the dry season. Of course, you dispense with the bumbershoot when you reach for the soap!

A tired candle that insists on leaning at a precarious angle in the holder can be made to behave. Just dip the large end quickly into boiling water and press immediately into the holder. No more wobbling.

Walnut Festival To Feature New Theme on 'Living'

"Walnut Creek Living" will be the theme of a special display planned for the Walnut Festival for the first time this year. Association Vice-President Eldo T. Ewert has announced.

Arrangement of this feature will be in charge of Mrs. R. C. McBride and Mrs. Lucille Mauzy, members of the association board of directors.

"We want to arrange an exhibit including all the varieties of walnuts grown in the area," said Mrs. McBride, "and we need the help of growers and residents in the area to collect them. Therefore we are asking that anyone who has walnuts of the different varieties from last year's crop to get in touch with us through the Walnut Festival office, 1533 Main St., Walnut Creek 2000."

Although the committee is already collecting many fruits to store in readiness for the exhibit, according to Mrs. Mauzy, they also hope to display articles of needlework and other home economic items. Exhibits from local schools also may be included in the collection.

LAFAYETTE

Open Every Day But Wednesday From 12 to 7 P.M.

Directions—Take Contra Costa Highway north past monument toward Martinez. Turn right the first road on right past the Drive-In Theater.

We think that you will be very pleasantly surprised at the unusual manner in which maple, birch, pine and cherry have been blended together, as well as, with the different color scheme and the lack of frills. The home is rather plainly decorated in a New England effect. Red and blue are the dominant colors of the living room, with green, yellow and brown being emphasized in the bedrooms and den. The gay, round breakfast room table and chairs has caught the fancy of most of those who have been through the home so far this week. See the different treatment given the living room window with unbleached muslin drapes. In fact the arrangement we think will please and give you some ideas for changes in your own home.

The store too is loaded with unusual things. Store hours are weekdays, of course from 9 to 6. Sunday from 1 to 6 and Thursday evening until 9 p.m.
